Can I use any Amazon Payments account to purchase prepaid HITs?

Funds held for liability is the sum of your assignment liability and fee liability.

ty.

Funds held for assignment liability is an estimated amount representing how much you would have to pay Workers if Workers submitted results for every assignment you are requesting, and you approved all of the results. We hold these funds because we need to ensure that Workers are paid promptly for their work on Amazon Mechanical Turk (MTurk). Your assignment liability will increase as you create new HITs and will decrease as you approve or reject assignments. If you have no outstanding assignments, you will have zero assignment liability.

All approved assignments will appear on your AWS bill under Mechanical Turk.

Get ready for a table game that you can access anywhere.

Easy starts with you breaking the balls and getting the first shot.

The mode is a lot more forgiving than others, so make all the mistakes you want.

Once you get the hang of the game, you can move on to medium and hard.

Both modes are a little less forgiving, so time your shots perfectly, or you might not get another chance.

You can also opt for the number of rounds if you are feeling cocky and think that you are the king.

Judge the strength of your shot by pulling the stick back and choose which part of the ball you will hit; different parts of the ball hit will give you different places it will go.

This game is a great simulation of a good sport, so break the norm and straighten your aim, you might only get one!

So, for example, if you open your account on Wednesday and place your first bet on Thursday, you will be then eligible to use your second chance credits from Thursday to the following Monday.
