Fantasy football is the most popular online sports contest.

It doesn't matter how and where you win.

If you win big playing fantasy sports, the IRS will stake a claim on those winnings.

If you can convince the IRS that you're in the business of gambling, you can deduct the full amount of your losses, plus certain other business-related expenses.

The expectation that the value of assets used in the activity may appreciate,

Your history of income or losses with respect to the activity,

Are you playing for pleasure or money? The answer can make a big tax difference in the eyes of the IRS.

Play it safe and contact your Brady Ware tax professional today about how to accurately track gambling-related winnings, losses and expenses on your 2021 federal tax return.

Alabama is not currently home to a professional sports franchise, but the state has a rich tradition of minor league baseball teams, greyhound track racing, other semi-professional sports teams and of course college sports.

Betting an informal few dollars with your buddies before the local game.

However, the current situation is beginning to look a little different.

With self-determination around this issue available for the first time, it is likely that few states will choose to be left behind.

Lottery: $200 million $300 million

Sports Betting: $10 million

Kay Ivey, who commissioned a 2020 gaming study that found the Southern gem could rank up to $300 million in annual lottery tax revenues, plus $400 million from casinos as well as $10 million from sports bets.

Alabama is an interesting case because, despite the sporting history of the state, many of the strongly Christian communities have historically been against gambling.
