When logged into your account on Associates Central, you will see a Store ID at the top right for your onsite account (it may begin with "onamz"). This is your ID to track your onsite earnings (Onsite Store ID). This Onsite Store

ID was created by Amazon on your behalf to ensure you are compensated when your content helps customers that encounter your content on Amazon make qualifying purchases. Onsite earnings are what you would earn if someone was already browsing on Amazon, sees your photos or videos, and purchases something. As you didn't directly drive that customer to Amazon to shop, but influenced them to purchase once they were there, we compensate you for the purchase but at an onsite rate.

What are onsite earnings?

How do I start earning onsite?

What items qualify for onsite earnings, and how are rates calculated?

You can find the onsite rates in Associates Central. When customers click on or stream your content, you earn from sales for qualifying purchases.

How can I tell if my content is being used and see my onsite earnings?

Why do I need two Store IDs?

No. Currently your Onsite Store ID is created in the same locale as your influencer storefront. If you have an influencer Store ID for multiple countries, you will be assigned an Onsite Store ID in each one. Currently, content must be published in the specific country in order to be eligible to earn onsite in that country.
